Travel Policy

Fictional training document for the HR Policy Assistant RAG project.

Business Travel Approval

• Business travel must be approved by the employee's reporting manager before the trip.

• Employees should use company-approved travel booking procedures whenever applicable.

Travel Limits

• The company may define different travel limits depending on the employee's role, destination, and type of travel.

• Employees should select reasonable and cost-effective travel options.

• Any exception to the approved travel limits requires appropriate authorization.

Travel Documentation

• Employees should retain travel-related bills and receipts for reimbursement.

• Travel reimbursement claims should contain the required supporting documentation.
